A-listers like to be beside the seaside at Libertas

The seventh-century seaside town of Dubrovnik welcomed A-listers including Woody Harrelson and Owen Wilson to the Libertas Film Festival. Other international guests included Capote producer Michael Oshoven, who chaired a jury which included Portuguese producer Maria Joao Sigalho and local actors Goran Navojec and Sanja Vejnovic. Goran Dukic's Wristcutters: A Love Story won the best fiction feature prize and the audience award.
